Fairmont tries new speed gun

By Martin Richter
Staff writer

The Fairmont City Police Department was one of the first to try out the new laser speed gun on Metro East drivers when it used the device in a covert speed operation on Friday.

The laser system — called lidar, for light detection and ranging — uses a series of invisible light pulses to measure the speed and range of targets.

Since the gun emits a very narrow light pulse rather than radio waves like conventional radar guns, radar detectors are useless against it.

The St. Louis Police Department recently purchased six of the laser speed guns using a federal grant. The department is making three of the guns available for loan to the 31 other departments who participate in Operation Gateway.

Fairmont City sent five officers to a training session in St. Louis last week. The officers received certification to use the laser speed gun, a condition for borrowing guns from the St. Louis Police.

The Illinois State Police also sent a representative, Sgt. Dave Jung, for training.

Fairmont City was able to borrow one of the guns on Friday, and an officer trained the laser gun on eastbound Interstate 55/70 drivers from a (See GUN, Page 3A)

Clinton to start new bus tour in East St. Louis

East St. Louis High School, 4801 State St., will be the site of the kick-off Wednesday for the second phase of a bus tour by Democratic presidential candidate Bill Clinton and his running mate, Sen. Al Gore.

The tour, called "On the Road... To Change America," will begin at the high school between 8 and 9 a.m.

The three-day caravan will travel north along the Mississippi River through Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota before ending Aug. 7 in Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Clinton, the Arkansas governor, and Gore last week ended their earlier bus tour from the Democratic National Convention in New York City with a rally in downtown St. Louis.

Recent public opinion polls taken by a wide variety of organizations show Clinton with a large lead over President George Bush, his expected opponent in November.

Bridick, Veizer pay hikes assailed

Pay hikes given to two former area police chiefs and a third Madison County sheriff's employee shortly before they relinquished their county-owned cars have driven a couple of Madison County Board members to distraction.

"I'm telling you, (Sheriff Bob Churchich) has made a very, very bad mistake," Finance Committee member Alan Dunstan, D-Troy, said. "To me, this is not showing good management."

Dunstan and fellow County Board member Jack Frandsen, D-Altamora, are upset over raises of more than $2,500 a year that Churchich approved for the employees.

The board members called the raises a slap in the face to the Finance Committee and a miscarriage of justice to the taxpayers.

The sheriff's budget, Frandsen added, shows Churchich will be $16,000 in red ink at the end of the year unless he alters his spending habits.

"I think the taxpayers are really getting hooked," Frandsen said.

Churchich, however, contends pay hikes for Donald L. Bridick, chief of courthouse security, Steven L. Kochan, director of support services, and administrator Ronald J. Veizer had nothing to do with the county-owned cars.

Bridick

Veizer is a former Granite City police chief. Bridick is a former Madison police chief.

The pay increases, Churchich said, were in response to each person taking on additional responsibility because of the enhanced Godfrey police contract.

"I had nothing to do with the fact they gave up their cars. This had no connection to the cars," Churchich said. (See RAISES, Page 8A)

Man, 19, held in killing

WORDEN — A 19-year-old Worden man has surrendered to authorities in the shooting death of a 17-year-old former Granite City girl he once dated.

Michael E. Strider was charged Monday with one count each of first-degree murder and attempted first-degree murder. He was being held in the Madison County Jail in lieu of $800,000 bond.

His former girlfriend, Donnell W. Awalt, was shot in the neck and back outside her Worden home, 8138 Brickyard Hill Road, about 1:30 a.m. Sunday. She was pronounced dead about 2:50 a.m.

Her boyfriend, Matt Pike, who was with her, was shot in the shoulder and groin and was listed in good condition Monday at Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

Donnell Awalt's mother, Clara Awalt, said her daughter's former boyfriend shot the couple in the back yard, then turned himself in to authorities.

Donnell's 2-year-old daughter, Samantha, was asleep inside the home at the time of the shooting, Awalt said, adding that she and her husband, David, were out of town for a wedding. Donnell and Samantha lived with the Awalts.

"We're gone for one night, and this has to happen," Clara Awalt said. "I don't know why someone would do something like this. We're trying to figure it out."

A neighbor told her he heard arguing outside the home but did not hear the gunshots.

"We live out in the country, and we have some neighbors out here, but no one lives real close," Awalt said.

She said her daughter had ended a relationship with her former boyfriend about three weeks ago but had been seeing him occasionally.

"He had been bothering her some, but they were still seeing each other," she said. "You would never dream something like this could happen."

Donnell, the Awalts' only child, had just finished a summer school course and was preparing for her senior year at Edwardsville High School.

Suit challenges nursing home tax

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Supreme Court has been asked to knock out the new state tax on nursing home residents.

A lawsuit filed in Chicago argues that the $6.30 per day tax, which will help pay for medical care for the poor, violates several state constitution provisions, including a requirement that taxes be imposed uniformly.

"This is a general welfare program that should be paid for from a general tax, such as the income tax, instead of sticking it to the elderly who can't take care of themselves," said Clinton Krislov. He is a Chicago attorney who filed the class-action lawsuit on behalf of a retired doctor whose wife is a patient in a Chicago-area nursing home.

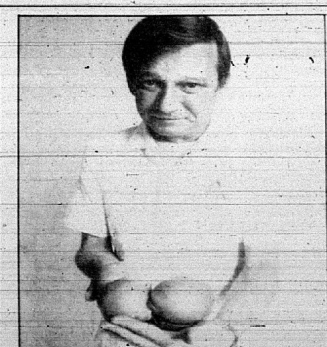

The tax took effect July 1 and was approved by lawmakers at the request of Gov. Jim Edgar, who said it and a companion tax on hospitals were needed to continue to get matching federal Medicaid money. About $700 million a year from the federal government was at stake.

Edgar has stood by a campaign pledge not to support any general tax increases during his term.

But Krislov argued "taxing the elderly and infirm, rather than the taxpayers generally to pay for medical service for the poor, is an outrage. And attempting to hide such a tax by passing it through as higher nursing home bills is nothing more than tax-laundering by the state government."

The suit asks the high court to order state Comptroller Dawn Clark Netter to impound and not allow any of the receipts from the tax to be spent until the constitutional questions are resolved.

Realignment could aid lots more than baseball

The commissioner of major league baseball, Francis T. (Fay) Vincent Jr., says he didn't have enough trouble being named Fay, now finds himself in legal trouble over his insistence that baseball do something that it finds difficult — that is, to act logically.

The commission has insisted that the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs switch divisions with the Atlanta Braves and the Cincinnati Reds. The Cards and the Cubs would play in the Western Division of the National League, the Braves and the Reds in the East. The last time we consulted a map, this made sense.

But one cannot consult a map alone. These days, one also must consult a lawyer. A federal judge in Chicago, acting on a suit brought by the Cubs' ownership, has ordered that baseball not act logically until such time as Fay can prove he's got the right to impose logic.

It seems the Cubs are upset that playing more road games in the Pacific time zone will hurt their television ratings, something 80 years of daytime baseball and 84 consecutive non-championship seasons has failed to do. If I'm Fay, I tell the Cubs, "Hey, you're the guys who traded Lou Brock for Ernie Broglio. Don't tell me about hurting ratings."

I'm rooting for Commissioner Fay in this matter, though I suspect he will lose. His authority may be limited to matters of on-the-field integrity, not off-the-field stupidity. It'll be a shame if he loses, because realignment is not these days — East Germany, Russia, Penn State, Ross Perot — a lot of big names have switched divisions in recent months.

In fact, the real problem with this city, this country, this world, is that the divisions are messed up. I'm commissioner of the world, we're going to do a lot of realigning.

We'll move Kansas City into Kansas, where it belongs, and where a lot of people think it already is. To compensate for the population loss, we'll move the entire Metro East into Missouri. We'll eliminate this St. Louis City-St. Louis County split, taking the combined metro area and dividing it according to what I call "the buddy system."

Every community would get a buddy. The rich communities would get a poor community as a buddy. People are always talking about how they want to help one another, this will give them a chance to prove it. Thus, Chesterfield will be paired with East St. Louis, Ladue with Kinloch-Weston North County Democrats with West County Republicans, etc.

We will move our new City Hall to the approximate geographic center of the new city, which I reckon would be Plaza Frontenac. Citizens will love the chance to pay their traffic fines and shop at Neiman's in one of the new City Halls. I anticipate some slight political opposition to this proposal, but I will appease opponents by realigning the East Side into a designated gambling zone. All forms of gambling will be legalized there — bingo, horse racing, lotteries, card games, casinos, and nowhere else. Thus the residents of the East Side, which has traditionally enjoyed the amenities of the city without paying for them, will finally have a chance to pay their fair share. I'm sure they will be grateful.

Since we no longer need to worry about Kansas City, we will move the University of Missouri's main campus to St. Louis, where it belongs. How much sense does it make, in a modern, urban-oriented society, to operate a state university in the middle of a soybean field?

Although we are tempted to realign the Mizzou Tigers football team into Division III to give it a chance to win, we will see what happens when the university moves to St. Louis. The football team finally will be able to recruit the East Side. The Mizzou basketball team will be realigned into the city's new arena, which I will realign from the Kiel site to the Cupples Station site, where it belongs.

This will cause displacement for other tenants of the new arena, so I will realign them into a Violent Sports District, featuring a new arena with cages around the playing field, tractor pull, pro wrestling and hockey fans will have a home of their own, which I will realign in, say, Velda City.

Needless to say, a bold, logical plan such as the one outlined above will take years to implement. But if I'm elected commissioner, it will get done. Or my name's not Fay.

The officer reported finding "numerous" open beer cans on the driver's side floorboard, and a cold unopened can of beer on the front passenger floorboard.

Snyder is on probation for a previous DUI conviction, and his license had previously been revoked, according to the report.

Snyder took field sobriety tests at the police station and also took a breathalyzer test, the report states.

Bond was set at $50,000 and he was taken to the Madison County Jail.

Edgar drops borrowing plan that would pay pharmacists

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. Jim Edgar shelved a plan to borrow about $300 million to pay old bills owed pharmacists, doctors and others because of opposition by Treasurer Pat Quinn.

"We're dropping it," Edgar spokesman Mike Lawrence said. "Unfortunately, Mr. Quinn is adamant, and a lot of people who are owed money by the state will suffer."

State law requires the governor, treasurer and comptroller to agree before money can be borrowed from banks to meet state operating expenses.

Quinn said Tuesday he would not sign off on the $300 million unless $176 million of it was used to speed up a state school aid payment, as has been done in recent years. For the past six years, school districts have gotten August and September state aid payments in August, said Lee Milner, a State Board of Education spokesman. However, Edgar had said that because of cash flow problems he did not expect that to happen this year.

Some area pharmacists said they would rather wait for their late Medicaid reimbursements because the borrowing plan would have deducted 3 percent to 5 percent of the payments to cover interest and administrative costs.

Quinn agreed to go along with Edgar's and Comptroller Dawn Clark Natesh in borrowing $600 million to catch up on Medicaid bills owed hospitals and nursing homes. That money will be repaid through a new tax on those facilities that took effect July 1 and is due by the end of September.

Lawrence said the $600 million could be borrowed within the next few weeks.

Edgar wanted to borrow the additional $300 million to pay off Medicaid providers such as pharmacists and doctors who are not covered by the new tax and other vendors who provide goods or services to the state.

As of Wednesday, Natesh's office had a backlog of $357 million in bills. $175 million of which was for Medicaid, said Natesh spokesman Rick Davis.

Burris: Homeless can register

CHICAGO — Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris has issued an official opinion that homeless people may register to vote.

Burris issued the ruling in an opinion delivered to Rep. Grace Mary Stern, D-Highland Park, vice chairman of the House Committee on Election Law.

In the ruling, Burris said: "It is my opinion that citizens of Illinois who are otherwise eligible to register may register to vote, even though they do not reside in traditional homes, if they can establish the existence of a 'home base' within the election district and designate a mailing address at which they can be reached."

Burris also noted that certain voting safeguards may be necessary. He urged Gov. Jim Edgar to sign legislation which amends the Election Code. "The bill, Senate Bill 1992, passed both the Senate and the House and will be sent to the Governor."

"A statutory mechanism is needed to guide election officials in registering the homeless," Burris said.

"The State has the prerogative, within the parameters of the 14th Amendment, to provide reasonable measures to protect the integrity of the election process while insuring that no otherwise eligible person is disenfranchised merely because he or she lacks a traditional home. Senate Bill 1992 appears to strike an appropriate balance."

The Attorney General cited court rulings in other jurisdictions as the basis for his opinion. Burris said a person who has established a "home base" by virtue of being reachable at a certain location is eligible to register.

For example, a person who sleeps in a park, but establishes a mailing address at a nearby shelter, may register, he said. To rule otherwise, Burris said, would deny a fundamental right to a citizen.

Denying such a person the right to vote would violate the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, he said.

borrowed dump truck parked on the shoulder.

Officer Frank Urban, who was operating the gun, said the department stopped 25 motorists in the first 45 minutes of the operation. Some got warnings and some got tickets, he said.

Officer Mark Cronovich said two motorists he stopped early on had working radar detectors. In addition to being undetectable by conventional radar detectors, the laser gun allows a police officer to aim at a specific vehicle at a fairly great distance, Fairmont City Police Chief Scott Penny said. "You're able to catch basically the professional speeder who No. 1, uses a radar detector and No. 2, does what we call lane jockeying — weaving from lane to lane to confuse speed detection devices," Penny said.

Jung said the ISP is in the process of purchasing some of the laser guns, and should take its first delivery in mid-to late September.

In the meantime, the State Police definitely will be borrowing the St. Louis Police Department's units, he said.

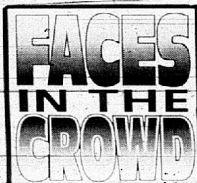

Other area departments have expressed interest in the laser guns but have said the $5,000 price — more than twice the cost for a conventional radar gun — is an obstacle.

Penny said he will evaluate the laser gun's performance to help determine if the department will purchase one.

Collinsville Police Chief David Niebur said his department can't afford one of the guns. He did not send anyone to the training.

Chief Robert Noonan of Troy said he would consider buying one only if he could get a grant to help defray the expense. Chief Don Sonnenberg of Maryville said he is still reading material on the gun to find out more about it.

New law makes nursing home residents eligible for state help

The Illinois Nursing Home Grant Assistance Act (Public Act 87-0663) has been signed by Gov. Jim Edgar. The program will provide grants to eligible low-income nursing home residents.

To be eligible for the grant, the individual must:

- reside in a nursing home after June 30, 1992
- for each day for which a grant is sought, not receive any assistance for nursing home care from the federal or state governments, and
- have income after nursing home care expenses of not more than 250 percent of the federal poverty level (250 percent of the federal poverty level is slightly more than $17,000.)

An eligible individual could receive a maximum grant of up to $500 per quarter. The maximum grant amount is determined by the number of days a person was in the nursing home during the quarter.

If an individual was a resident for the entire quarter, the individual could receive up to $500. An individual's actual grant amount is based on the total amount available in the fund. Money in the fund is paid by the nursing home.

Nursing homes will pay the Department of Revenue $1 per occupied bed per day. The fees are paid quarterly with the first payment due by the end of September for the three months April, May and June 1992. The fees will be used to fund the grants. The first grants will be made by the end of October.

The nursing home will provide the Department of Revenue a list of eligible individuals and their respective grant amounts when it pays the fees to the department. The department will send a grant check to the nursing home for distribution to eligible individuals.

An eligible individual could receive a maximum grant of up to $500 per quarter.

Eligible individuals in the nursing home do not have to complete any paper work to apply for the grant. The law provides that a licensed nursing home's receipt of a single dollar for nursing home care automatically completes the application for the grant.

The law specifically states nursing homes may not pass on the fees to the residents of third-party payers.

Severe penalties apply to nursing homes that do not pay the grant to the eligible individuals within two business days of payment by the department. The first penalty is 100 percent of the grant if it is paid within two business days. Another penalty is 5 percent per day (up to 100 percent) applies for each day the nursing home has not paid the grant.

A special provision of the law ensures that those receiving this grant can still be eligible for the "Circuit Breaker" property relief grants. The Circuit Breaker program is also administered by the Department.

Haida seeks replacement of new judge in Stone case

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

St. Clair County State's Attorney Bob Haida said an out-of-circuit judge named to hear criminal charges against Coroner Rick Stone should be replaced because he is "prejudiced against the state."

He asked late Thursday that Circuit Judge David W. Watt Jr. of the 1st Judicial Circuit be substituted. He would not elaborate on the basis of his motion.

Circuit Judge Jerome F. Lopini, who was acting chief judge at the time, named Watt to hear the case July 21. Lopini presumed the entire 20th Judicial Circuit "labored under a conflict with reference to the defendant," Haida's motion stated.

Stone is charged with four counts of official misconduct for allegedly firing four deputy coroners without legal authority. He is scheduled for a bench trial Tuesday before Watt, but Haida's motion could delay the proceedings.

No action was taken on Haida's request Friday. Lopini said he was waiting to hear from the Illinois Supreme Court to determine the next step.

"I don't know what they'll tell me, I think it's up to them," he said.

Haida said he doesn't know whether the decision is up to Lopini or the Supreme Court and therefore, "doesn't know when to expect an answer."

"Nothing in the statute outlines the procedure, but I sent my request to Judge Lopini, the Supreme Court and to Steve Rice, the defense attorney, so we could cover all the bases," he said.

John Madigan, a public information officer with the Illinois Supreme Court, said the decision is up to the chief judge unless he decides to fight Haida's request.

"We don't make the decision here," he said. "All we do is take care of the paperwork."

Agency begins campaign to boost seat belt usage

If an airliner crashed on Monday, killing 125 passengers, Americans would be upset, and perhaps slightly more apprehensive if they themselves happened to be flying in the next few days.

If a second plane crashed on Tuesday, killing another 125, the coincidence of major tragedies occurring on consecutive days would be noted, and with some alarm.

If a third plane crashed on Wednesday, killing yet another 125, a fearful public would begin to ask, "What's going on here?"

If a fourth plane crashed on Thursday, an outcry for massive review of air safety practices would sweep across the country.

If, on Friday, a fifth crash occurred, a traumatized America might refuse to fly.

The scenario was given by a Plasia Health Care spokesman, who said America already suffers the equivalent of a major airliner crash every day of the year.

It takes place on the highways, where motor vehicle collisions claim about 125 lives each 24 hours, and injure thousands.

"Somehow, that reality has worn so thin that most people look right through it, scolding among trees, the forest escapes notice."

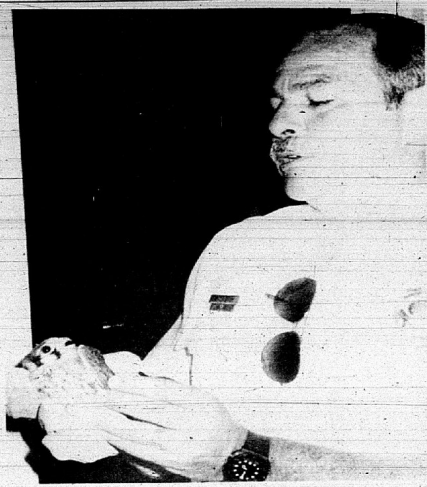

"In the interest of the nation's public safety, President George Bush has mandated a national goal of 70 percent safety-belt use by the end of 1992."

Scott officials directing missiles

With rising tensions in the Middle East over Iraq's non-compliance with United Nations sanctions, the Air Mobility Command (AMC) unit at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville is directing the movement of F-16 fighter jets, and Army personnel to unspecified locations in the Middle East.

An AMC spokesman said that Scott AFB is overseeing 17 flights from various bases that are comprised of C-141 and C-5 aircraft.

The spokesman would not disclose whether further missions were planned.

Bird of prey — This hawk was found in a back yard in the 2100 block of Waterman Avenue July 29. Capt. Kip Pomeroy of the Granite City Police Department took the hawk to Hawthorne Animal Hospital, where it was learned that the bird, a full-grown male, lacked its flight feathers. The bird was taken to the Treehouse Wildlife Center in Brighton.

Greek celebration is next Botanical Garden festival

The Missouri Botanical Garden's "Festival of Festivals" continues this week with the opening of the Greek Festival. The theme for the festival is "Greece: A Celebration of Life." It runs Saturday and Sunday, and will be followed by the Native American Festival, Aug. 15-16, and the Italian Festival, Aug. 22-23. All will be held at the Botanical Garden, 4341 Shaw Blvd.

Greek Festival hours are 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day. For more information, call the Festival of Festivals information hotline at (314) 577-5198.

"People who enjoy festive celebrations won't want to miss this one," said Deborah Graham, manager of public programs and events for the Botanical Garden. The highlight of each evening during the Greek Festival will be the transformation of the garden's Speicher Plaza into a traditional Greek Taverna—a quaint but lively bistro featuring singing, dancing and fun.

Lovers of Greek music can thrill to the sounds of Never on Sunday, featuring the traditional Greek instrument, the bouzouki, and keyboard, and The Golden Greeks band. Famed storyteller Bert Minkin will spin tales from his presentation, "The Voice of Ancient Greece from Aesop to Aristotle."

Also appearing will be the Hellenic Dancers of St. Louis and the "Levendia" Folk Dance Troupe.

Cooking demonstrations will present lessons in creating succulent Greek dishes, and travel presentations will celebrate Greece with dazzling and colorful photographs.

This year, one lucky festival visitor will have the opportunity to taste firsthand the flavor of a festival country, or anywhere else he or she might choose, as the winner of a special giveaway. One pair of round-trip tickets, donated by Trans World Airlines and Travel Center Inc., to any TWA destination city.

Garden visitors, age 18 and older, can register for the drawing during any of the festivals. No purchase is necessary. Some restrictions apply.

Festival admission is free with the regular garden admission of $2. $1 for those 65 or older. Admission to the garden is free to garden members, children age 12 and under, and for all on Wednesday and Saturday mornings until noon.

Some events will be held in Schoenberg Auditorium, which requires an additional $1 admission price. For information, call 577-5198.

•Raises

pay raises were tied to responsibilities concerning Godfrey.

The flap over pay raises is the latest skirmish between Church and county officials over the use of cars in his department.

The controversy started in June after the sheriff asked the Finance Committee for five new squad cars to cover Godfrey's enhanced patrol.

County officials criticized Church for allowing administrators, court security and other personnel to drive county-owned cars to and from work.

The car debate led to the ordered analysis of all 176 vehicles used in 14 county departments, 75 of them in the sheriff's unit.

In response to the tussle, Church, in mid-July ordered the shutting of cars used by Bridick, Kochan and Veizer to make sure Godfrey patrols were covered.

Records show Church approved pay raises for the three July 9 and made them retroactive to the first of the month.

Police officer suspended

The Granite City Board of Fire and Police Commissioners will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday to consider administrative charges filed against Patrolman Dan Cochran.

Cochran has been suspended with pay since July 15.

Police Chief Don Knight declined to disclose the charges against Cochran, and would not comment on the matter.

Edward "Dewey" Melton, president of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, also refused to disclose the charges.

"It is my personal belief that a public employee has a right to privacy," Melton said. "If the charge is proved to be true, there will be plenty of raises. Both received raises of $2,600, increasing their yearly salaries from $38,272 to $40,872. Kochan's yearly salary jumped from $33,864 to $36,460, an increase of $2,600.

Frandsen said the additional money appears to be "car payments" for the three.

Church said they would have received raises regardless of the shift-in-county cars.

He has the authority to allocate money within his own budget, county officials, however, control the budget total, which this fiscal year is more than $4 million.

Veizer and Bridick have assumed additional duties of shuffling deputy time schedules and tallying monthly statistics relating to Godfrey patrols, Church said. Kochan's added responsibilities include upkeep of the Godfrey patrol cars.

"I think this is poor business management when your budget indicates you're running short," Frandsen said. "I'm sure that we're not going to forget it."

—From the Alton Telegraph time to report that. But if it is unfounded, the public employee will not have to live with that stigma the rest of his life," Melton said.

Sources said the charges were the result of an investigation initiated following a complaint by Cochran's former wife.

The Board of Fire and Police Commissioners is an independent body, whose members are appointed by the mayor and whose purpose is the hiring, promotion, discipline and firing of employees of the city's police and fire departments.

Melton, Leland Ambuehl and Roger Miller, currently serve on the board.

Respiratory therapy technician program has 20th graduating class

Celebrating its 20th year, the respiratory care training program sponsored by St. Elizabeth Medical Center and Belleville Area College graduated 18 students on July 17.

During the graduation ceremony, Dr. Robert M. Bruce, medical director of pulmonary services at SEMC, in Granite City, told the graduates about an increasing demand for respiratory care practitioners.

He cited increasing incidence of pulmonary tuberculosis and asthma and described advances in lung transplantation.

"Respiratory care is a very dynamic profession," said Will Mueller, director of the program. "In the beginning, the respiratory care profession was thought of as inhalation therapy because the primary duties of a therapist were the administration of intermittent positive pressure breathing therapy and medical gases."

"Since then, we've branched out to more areas, including metabolic and pulmonary stress testing."

To keep up with the advances in respiratory care, the curriculum has changed greatly.

Students today study more chemistry, physics, microbiology and mathematics," he said.

"They spend a great deal of time learning patient assessment skills, especially chest assessment. The number of medications administered by practitioners has increased tremendously, which has necessitated an increased understanding of pharmacology."

"Today's practitioner monitors blood oxygen levels by devices known as pulse oximeters, heart and lung blood flow characteristics through the use of pulmonary artery catheters, and exhaled carbon dioxide levels (capnography) to assess the effectiveness of a patient's heart and lungs."

SEMC/BAC's one-year program offers students a full range of courses covering all aspects of respiratory therapy, including the study of lung pathology, patient assessment, pharmacology, diagnostic procedures, and various methods of treatment and rehabilitation of patients suffering from lung problems.

Students also receive extensive training in the theory, application and troubleshooting of life-support equipment.

Practitioners can pursue a variety of careers, including specialty programs, such as critical care or pediatrics/neonatology; pulmonary diagnostics; rehabilitation programs; home health care; medical equipment sales; education; and research.

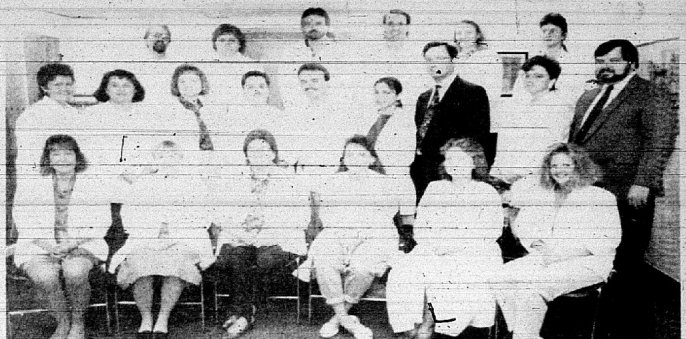

"The future of respiratory therapy programs will require stronger continued grounding in medical and natural science," Mueller said.

A respiratory care practitioner today requires much more intensive and diverse training than the respiratory technician 20 years ago. Continuing one's education is absolutely essential."

This year's graduates are: Belleville: Jan Kolb, Jeff Clark, Jan Lauf and Ann Koenig; Cahokia: Sherri Pipkins; Collinsville: Denise Jackson; Edwardsville: Nancy Metzler and Penny Sparks.

Granite City: Kathy Cuvar, Gail Karvis, May Votopal and Eric Cunningham.

Edgars orders new buying procedure

Gov. Jim Edgar has issued an executive order designed to help prevent abuse and waste in state purchases.

The executive order restores a requirement that agencies under his jurisdiction file detailed documentation through affidavits whenever they suspend normal competitive bidding procedures to make emergency purchases.

The requirement was repealed in a multifaceted law approved this spring to help implement budget cuts.

"The citizens of Illinois expect their state government to spend their tax dollars in an appropriate and honest manner. I have made it clear to the members of my administration that competitive procedures must continue to be followed in all nonemergency cases. The reinstatement of the emergency purchase affidavit will assure the public that we depart from competitive procedures only in true emergencies."

In the affidavits, agencies making emergency purchases are to spell out the nature of the emergency requiring the purchase and the reasons that prevented the use of competitive procedures.

Typical situations justifying exemption include imminent danger to public health or safety, protection of or repairs to state property, prevention of interruptions in state services or protection of state records.

Completed affidavits are to be submitted to the auditor general and the Legislative Audit Commission for review and preparation of reports on emergency purchasing.

The filing of an affidavit is also to be reported to the comptroller on the requisition prior to payment for the purchase.

OH MY ACHING CORNS!

A phrase so commonly used by those suffering needlessly from painful corns. Although trimming them affords temporary relief, within 12 months regrowth of the corn occurs along with the pain and discomfort. The recurrence is due to the underlying calcium deposit causing excessive pressure where the skin responds by building up that corn tissue. In almost all instances the corn can be permanently removed by an in-office procedure requiring little or no time off work. There is no need to suffer any longer. St. Clair County also showing pollution gains

By Ken Bourne
Staff writer

St. Clair County remains second in the state in the release of toxins into the environment by industries, although the total discharge of the chemicals in the county has decreased.

The Journal reported earlier that Madison County is third. The amount of toxic chemicals released in the county has dropped since 1990.

The statistics come from a report released last week by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. The report said St. Clair County plants reported about 46.4 million pounds of toxic chemicals were discharged into the air, water or land in 1990, compared to about 46.6 million pounds in 1989.

One of the more dangerous chemicals hydrochloric acid topped the list of toxic chemicals released in the county, with about 16.7 million pounds reported for 1990, down slightly from 17.1 million pounds the previous year. St. Clair County released more than half of the 31.7 million pounds of hydrochloric acid released in the state in 1990.

Hydrochloric acid, a highly corrosive chemical used as a metal cleaning agent, contains poisonous hydrogen chloride fumes that can produce severe irritation of the upper respiratory tract if inhaled.

St. Clair County Board Environmental Committee chairman Wade Brunsman said the report is a sign of improvement in the county.

"I'm glad that it's dissipating, that's our intention. We want to keep the amount of pollution going down. People have to understand that St. Clair County has had a health department for only two years to combat these types of problems. Now, we have to locate the sources of where these chemicals are coming from and work to keep them from going into the environment," Brunsman said.

The IEPA report said 1.6 million pounds of toxic chemicals were released into the air accidentally in 1990, with another 731,779 pounds routinely released through stacks in St. Clair County.

Another 38.3 million pounds of toxic waste in the county was flushed into sewage systems, about 60 pounds went into waterways, about 239,000 pounds were disposed of in land on plant sites and about 560,000 pounds went to off-site landfills or incinerators.

Ammonium sulfate ranked as the second highest toxin in pounds released within the county at 10.8 million pounds in 1990.

Civil War monument planned

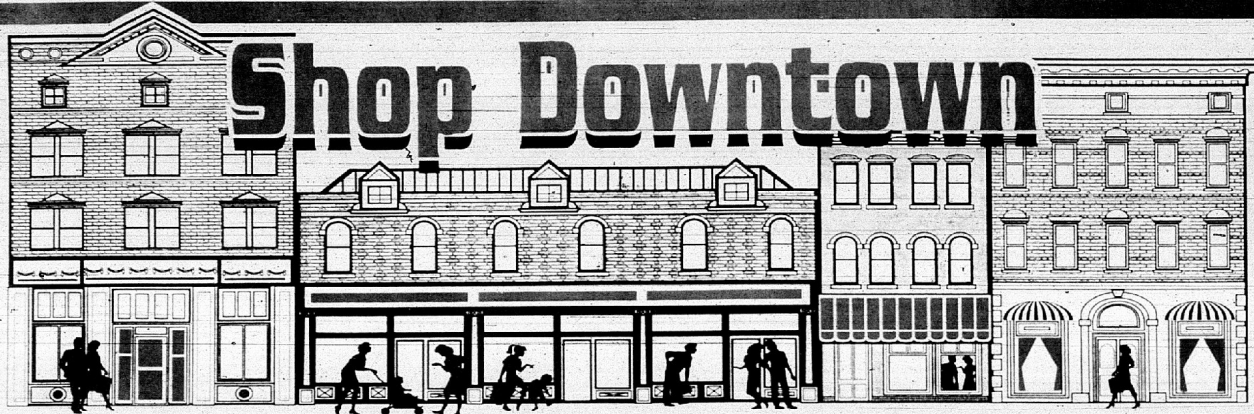

St. Clair County Board Chairman John Baricewicz announced the appointment of a Civil War Memorial Committee. The committee's task is to find a suitable site and model for a monument which will honor the men from St. Clair County who served in the Civil War from 1861-65.

Approximately 4,300 men from St. Clair County defended the Union with honor in more than 34 different regiments from the State of Illinois.

Baricewicz said, "Over a century has passed since the end of the Civil War and our nation, states, local communities, many organizations and individuals have expended much effort in erecting monuments, markers and memorials throughout the country. St. Clair County has been remiss in not honoring our brave dead."

The Civil War Memorial Committee chairman is Frank Ruester, commander of the 22nd Illinois Volunteer Infantry, an authentic Civil War reenactment and living history group.

Other committee members are County Board member Bob Gentsch, Belleville City Councilwoman Linda Hay, Robert "Chick" Fritz, Judge Jerry Lopini, Tony Chabovsky, Wayne Harper and James Hankammer, also from the 22nd Infantry.

No evidence to exclude HIV athletes from sports

The controversy started last Nov. 7 when Magic Johnson announced he had tested positive for the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) and would end his 12-year career in the NBA.

Should he play in the Olympics? Olympic officials and physicians agreed and Johnson has been an active part of the Dream Team's success so far. But should the same rules apply to all athletes, including those in high school and college?

To date, there is no documented risk-related reason to exclude an athlete who has tested positive for HIV from participation in sports. There was a report from Europe that one case of transmission occurred during a soccer match, but there has been no documented evidence to support that.

HIV attacks several types of cells in the body's immune system, particularly the helper T cells. The loss of the T cells leaves an infected individual more vulnerable to infections and cancers that make up the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS).

The American Academy of Pediatrics has stated, "Infected athletes should not be involuntarily excluded from sports, and routine testing is not justified. The physician should respect the infected athlete's right to confidentiality, as always."

Darren Wethers, M.D., who is on staff at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City, said, "HIV can live outside the body for only a short period of time. It cannot be transmitted by touching, breathing or other casual contact. People under 30 years of age account for 30 percent of HIV cases, so young people are at increased risk."

The United States Olympic Committee ranks sports according to the level of risk of blood injuries occurring. The highest risk sports are boxing, wrestling and Tae Kwon Do. Moderate risk sports are basketball, field hockey, ice hockey, judo, soccer and team handball. The lowest risk are sports involving little physical contact like baseball, volleyball and gymnastics. The USOC agrees there should be testing for athletes involved in moderate and high risk sports.

"The NCAA states there is an extremely low risk of HIV transmission through sports participation. Health care professionals working with athletes should follow the universal precautions recommended by the Center for Disease Control. Precautions include using latex rubber gloves when dealing with bloody injuries and properly cleaning up bloody injuries before returning to competition."

HIV awareness has resulted in rule changes in several sports. USA Boxing rules disqualify HIV-positive boxers, but the rule has not yet been invoked. USA Wrestling timeouts for bleeding assess no penalties against the athlete.

"We have to understand that stopping the bleeding and cleaning up the blood is actually protecting the other person more than the bleeding person," said Dr. Jack Harvey, USA Wrestling team physician.

Experts say there is no need for hysteria, just good hygiene and common sense.

When an athlete finds out he or she is HIV-positive, consultation with a physician on future activity levels is recommended. No studies have been conducted on the effects of strenuous exercise on HIV-positive athletes. But research indicates moderate aerobic activity (70-80 percent VO2 max) increases the number of T cells and boosts the immune system. Very strenuous exercise has been shown to suppress the immune system.

Dr. Wethers said in Madison and St. Clair counties 126 people have tested positive for HIV, and 162 people have been diagnosed with AIDS to date. Those numbers are an underestimation, however, as many residents receive care in Missouri and are not counted in those statistics.

Auto Scoring: "I like it. Everybody likes it. It's easy to read, some systems are more difficult to read. Acuscore is real good."

Friendly Atmosphere: "There's always a good friendly atmosphere. It's cool and comfortable in the summer. The lower ceiling helps you zero in on the pins. The staff knows you, jokes with you and bowls with you."

High scoring: "The alleys are better. They're taken care of better here. My average is 10 pins better than when I bowl anywhere else."

first game with a three-run double in a five-run sixth giving his team a 9-3 lead. Post 928 outlasted the Triplets 13-9 in that game.

Left fielder Bill Hermann dropped a fly ball after 30 communications breakdown with center fielder Jeff Ridenour to give Post 928 two unearned runs with two outs in the third to break a 2-2 tie. After Fairview broke it open, managed to hang on. The Triplets 2-0-0 scored twice in the ninth and had the tying run at the plate with two outs. But Phillips got Chris Hill on a force play.

SIX Post 928 errors meant all the Granite City runs were unearned. Ben Hicks 3-0-1 took the loss for Post 113, allowing all nine runs in 2.5 innings. But six of those were unearned.

Final game
"Robb Hill was 5-for-5 with two doubles and two RBI as Post 928 again opened up a big lead and hung on."

RBI hits by Tom Worley and Hill broke a 1-1 tie in the second inning, then Pat Rushing's two-run triple keyed a three-run third as Post 928 opened up a 7-2 lead after 17 innings. Granite City starter Chris Hill was bothered by a bad leg and was in up for eight runs and 10 hits in 4.1 innings. Ryan Reeves pitched 4.1 innings of two-out shutout relief.

Reeves, who also went 6-for-12 in the series and 12-for-24 in the postseason, won't RBI. Hadn't allowed an earned run in two games of the North Division playoffs. He had pitched six innings Friday night.

"I really thought about starting him go as far as he could before going to Chris," said Granite City manager Ralph Burnett. "But nothing is worth hurting Ryan. It turned out Chris was hurting a little, but I didn't know. These kids want to play."

The Triplets got three runs off Joe Stines in the fourth as Bobby Wilson tripled in two runs. Wilson was 6-for-9 in Sunday's game.

Jeff Kennedy pitched fourth inning of relief to get the win. He allowed two runs in the eighth to make it 8-7, but Geluck came on to get the save. He retired Les Nunes on a fly ball.

Drake Marshall walked to lead off, but not before an argument on the previous pitch over whether a pitch had hit his hand or the bat. With two outs, Wilson got his fourth straight hit, a liner into left center.

Marshall was held up at third, although the relay got away from Kennedy at shortstop. "I wish I had known they weren't going to handle the relay cleanly," said third base coach Gus Lignoul.

Then Wilson got caught between first and second while Marshall sprinted home. He touched the plate before Wilson was tagged out and it looked for a moment as if the Triplets had stolen a run to tie the game. But it was ruled that time had been called and the runners were sent back to first and third. Geluck then got Marc Patton on a soft pop fly to Hill at third base to end the series.

"I didn't see time called," said Burnett. "We've tried that play before and it's worked. I always watch the home plate umpire in that situation to see if time is called and I didn't see it."

"But I won't blame it on the umpires. We had chances in just about every inning and would have won with one more key hit somewhere."

Dooleen, Nathan Becker, and Ty Sudre to break the Paddlers 9-10 medley relay record with a time of 2:29.38. The old record of 2:34.74 was set in 1982 by Dan Niles, Joe Martinez, Mack Fusell and Bill McCormick. That also set a pool record at Summersport. They also broke the Paddlers' pool 9-10 freestyle relay record with a time of 2:12.87. The old Paddlers' mark was set in 1989 by Kyle Briggs.

Matt Tanase, Jim Welch and Zack Suhre. Geske swept the 100 yard butterfly, 200 yard backstroke and the 200 individual medley. Geske teamed with Zack Suhre, Chris Valencia and Cale Becker to set Paddlers' pool and SWISA records in the 13-14 freestyle relay with a time of 1:42.21. The 13-18 set in 1981.

"We had so many strong performances that it was hard to pick out just five or six who excelled," said Furmenak. "We had 46 kids in the finals, which is great for us."

Matt Dittman (8 and under), Cale Becker (13-14), and Karen Yehling (13-14 girls) all finished second in their respective age groups. Nathan Becker (9-10) and Andrew Dresch (11-12) garnered thirds.

"We had a lot of surprises," said Furmenak. "Besides the 13-18 group, which had the toughest competition, we were competitive everywhere else."

Though Paddlers was dominant as it has been in the past, there could be a return to form next year as the team will return all but one of its swimmers.

"We're only going to lose one girl next season," said Furmenak.

ak. "That's going to help us tremendously. We had to practically start all over in three age classes this year. That's a third of your team right there. That makes it tough."

Several other Paddlers records were broken at the meet. Lesley Neff (15-18 girls) broke the 100-yard breaststroke record with a time of 1:15.94 which bested Tonya Geske's mark of 1:16.75 set in 1986.

Cale Becker (13-14) set a 100-yard freestyle record with a time of 53.98 which beat the record time of 56.36 set by Kelly Mann in 1977. Becker also set a record when he finished the 50 yard freestyle in 23.75. David Baker had the record of 25.33 in 1981.

These fees will include the cost of the bus transportation, attractions in the Branson area, entrance to Silver Dollar City, and a full-course brunch at Hemmway's Restaurant in the Bass Pro Complex in Springfield, Mo., on Sept. 20.

The group will leave the Wilson Park Ice Rink on Friday morning, Sept. 18. The first stop will be in Rialto, Mo., for breakfast. The bus trip will continue through the Ozark country to Silver Dollar City, where the National Arts and Crafts Show will be in progress.

At 5 p.m. the bus will leave for J.R.'s Motor Lodge, where the group will stay for the weekend. Friday evening is open but the motel is in walking distance of several music shows, restaurants and shops.

Saturday, Sept. 19, will begin with a guided tour of the College of the Ozarks campus, Ralph Foster Museum, Scenic Overlook, Missouri state trout hatchery and Ozark Mountain Potato Chip factory. After lunch, the group will see a 2 p.m. show at the Mel Tillis Theater featuring Tillis and Barbara Birchard. This show will feature Glen Campbell and Roger Miller. On Sunday morning, the bus will depart for home. The first stop of the day will be the Bass Pro Shop in Springfield, where time will be allowed to look around the shop before a buffet that will include breakfast items, catfish and various meat entrees.

After brunch, the group will stop at the Outlet Mall in Lebanon, Mo. It will arrive back at the Wilson Park rink that evening between 7 and 8.

The trip will go on sale at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 17, at the Wilson Park office. Residents of the Park District will be given priority, with non-residents being placed on a waiting list.

Journal Grand Tours will return to old favorite Hawaii in 1993

Busy downtown Oahu is the financial and political heart of Hawaii.

The Journal Grand Tours will return again in 1993 to Hawaii, one of the favorite travel destinations for St. Louis tourists.

The Hawaii destination was so popular with Journal Tour members that two separate tour groups were formed this year.

To allow ample time for planning, the Journals are pleased to announce the 1993 Hawaiian tour will leave St. Louis on Feb. 9. The tour will cover Honolulu as well as the Hawaiian Islands.

Only the best available accommodations, entertainment, meals and services are offered on Journal tours.

Honolulu, the arrival city for the Hawaiian tour, is the most exotic city in the United States. It reminds visitors of the ancient Hawaiian goddess who could change her form at will.

At one moment, it is a black-eyed beauty and the next a high-tech scion of the computer age. The city's face is eternally lovely, framed by the Koolau Mountains, Waikiki Beach and Diamond Head.

Honolulu is the pumping heart of Hawaii. The state government and university are here. So are botanical parks, a fine aquarium and zoo, a floating maritime museum, and the world's foremost museum on Polynesia. Art flourishes like flowers, as do professional and amateur entertainment, extravaganzas and local and world-class sporting events.

Skewer flavor on meat-and-vegetable kabob

By Cynthia Fauser
Summer means barbecue. As a cooking method, it is a flavorful way to keep cool, a relaxed way to entertain and easily adapts to low-fat cooking. A fully-loaded grill often yields extra portions to freeze and enjoy on a rainy day.

Those are grown-up reasons. The kid in me has enjoyed grilling ever since I first was allowed to paint on the sauce and put out fires with a squirt bottle.

While a lean, juicy hamburger topped with fresh tomato is certainly wonderful, it is easy to find a variety of low-fat meats for the grill. Consider using beef, chuck, round, London broil or sirloin, chicken, pork tenderloin or fish.

Three- to four-ounce portions save money and are more heart-healthy than large servings. That is about the size of a deck of playing cards. If that smaller quantity comes as a visual shock, recipes like shish kabobs use that size portion effectively and adequately. Vegetables, either on separate skewers or alternated with meat cubes, develop a wonderful concentrated flavor on the grill and make meat go farther.

Marinades enhance the flavor and juiciness of low-fat meat, so they extend sale items for economy. A marinade consists of an acidic liquid—such as wine, lemon juice or vinegar, favorite spices and oil. Low-calorie dressings make easy marinades, too, or make your own with two parts red wine vinegar, two parts soy sauce and 1 part vegetable oil.

Acid affects metal pans, so hold the liquid in a glass or plastic container. I use a plastic food storage bag because it takes less marinate and can be turned over to redistribute the liquid around the meat. Always, marinate meat in the refrigerator if it takes more than one hour. Discard leftover marinade that has been in contact with raw meat, because the acid only slows bacterial growth and does not stop it.

Direct heat and a hot fire are fine for shish kabobs, which take about 10 minutes. Indirect heat, using coals arranged on either side of a heavy foil drip pan, is better for large cuts like turkey breasts or whole pork tenderloins requiring longer cooking. Experienced grillers gauge the temperature of the fire by how many seconds they can hold a hand eight inches above the coals. Five seconds is low heat; four seconds is medium heat; three seconds, medium-high heat; and two seconds, high heat.

Despite current popularity, charred meat has its drawbacks. Besides causing meat to toughen and dry out, friends may doubt the entree was intended to be "blackened burger bundles."

Secondly, charred or overcooked food adds small amounts of cancer-causing polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons (PAHs). Fortunately, the American Institute of Cancer Research says most Americans don't grill often enough for PAHs to be a significant source of concern, especially if low-fat meats and marinades are emphasized and burning the meat is avoided.

This marinade uses a few common ingredients and adds little fat or sodium to meat. Use it for kabobs or an affordable chuck steak. Thread mushrooms, chunks of zucchini, green pepper and onion with the meat cubes. Kabobs benefit even from 30 minutes, or up to six hours, of marinating. Marinate steak several hours.

A three-ounce cooked portion of beef supplies about 220 calories, 23.6 grams protein, 13 grams fat (55 percent calories from fat), 76 milligrams cholesterol and 2.6 milligrams iron. Add Paprika Potatoes Pronto as a side vegetable. These dishes cook quickly on the grill or under a broiler.

There are several free brochures about grilling available. The Missouri Beef Industry Council offers "Marinate and Grill" free by calling toll-free (800) 441-6242. The marinade recipe given is from that brochure.

The Barbecue Industry Association sends "Great Barbecues in Sixty Minutes or Less," if you send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: 310 Thornhill Street, Suite 380, Edison, N.J. 08837. The American Institute of Cancer Research has "Dietary Guidelines to Lower Cancer Risk" available at toll-free (800) 843-8114.

Barbecue marinade

1/2 cup chopped onion

1 1/2 tbsp. packed brown sugar
1 tbsp. oil
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1/2 cup ketchup
1 tbsp. horseradish
1 tsp. water
1/4 tsp. coarsely ground pepper

In small saucepan over medium heat, cook onion and brown sugar in oil about 3 minutes until onion is tender.

Add vinegar, ketchup, horseradish, water and pepper. Continue cooking over medium heat 3 to 4 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool thoroughly before adding to beef. Makes about 1/4 cup.

Paprika potatoes pronto

Boil or microwave tiny new potatoes until just tender. When cool enough to handle, slice in half and thread on skewers. Brush lightly with olive oil. Season well with salt, pepper and paprika. Grill, turning several times, about 10 minutes.

Grilled burger can be on low-fat diet plan

By Patricia Abels
Registered Dietitian
American Heart Association
St. Louis Chapter

There are times when nothing satisfies like a juicy, perfectly grilled burger. What? Hamburger on a low-fat eating plan?

Cindy DeBlauw, registered dietitian with the Missouri Beef Industry Council, says, "Sure, lean ground beef fits very nicely into low-fat lifestyles. In fact, today's beef is leaner than ever before — about 27 percent leaner than early 1980s beef."

According to DeBlauw, a small, grilled hamburger supplies vital nutrients, yet fewer calories and less fat than most people realize.

A three-ounce burger made from 90 to 95 percent lean, ground beef has fewer than 170 calories, only 70 milligrams of cholesterol and less than 10 grams of fat. A woman who wants to limit the fat she eats to 50 grams per day should find it quite easy to work in small portions of lean ground beef, she says.

Best of all, beef is a powerhouse of essential nutrients in which many women and children are deficient.

Beef is a great source of zinc, a mineral essential for growth, development and repair. It also provides the mineral iron, an important part of hemoglobin, which carries oxygen through the bloodstream. That three-ounce burger gives a woman 40 percent of the zinc and 15 percent of the iron she needs in a day.

An added bonus is that ground beef is an outstanding source of high-quality protein.

At home, DeBlauw creates savory, lean burgers for her family. Here are her tips:

- Start with ground beef that is at least 90 percent fat-free.

- Blend in chopped green or yellow onion, a little pepper or fresh herbs and a few drops of liquid smoke.

- Form four-ounce patties about the size and thickness of a small person's palm, 4 inches square, by 1/2 inch thick or the size of a deck of cards.

- Grill over medium-hot coals for a total of eight to 10 minutes.

- Serve on a whole-grain bun with a little Dijon mustard or ketchup.

- Pile high with green lettuce, sliced fresh tomato and green pepper rings.

Here is a recipe for Vegetable-Beef Burgers, which allows you to make a shopping list if you need one, for this summer-special meal. It stretches one pound extra-lean ground beef to make six burgers.

I Love Eating

Vegetable-beef burgers

- 1 lb. very lean ground beef
- 1 small tomato, finely chopped
- 1 medium onion, finely chopped
- 1 small green bell pepper, finely chopped
- 1/2 tsp. freshly ground black pepper, or to taste
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

Accompaniments

- 6 whole wheat hamburger buns
- 1 large tomato, sliced
- 6 leaves lettuce
- Mustard and ketchup to taste
- Combine ground beef, tomato, onion, green pepper, ground pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Mix well.
- Divide mixture in 6 portions. Shape each patty about 1/2-inch thick.

Spray heavy nonstick skillet with nonstick cooking spray. Heat over medium-high heat. Cook beef patties 3 to 7 minutes on each side until done as desired. Handle meat patties very carefully to prevent break up.

Place cooked patties on paper towels. Blot to absorb fat. Serve on buns with tomato, lettuce, mustard and ketchup.

Makes 6 servings; 238 calories, 5.5 g fat, 40 mg cholesterol and 278 mg sodium each.

Recipe adapted from American Heart Association's "Low-Fat, Low-Cholesterol Cookbook" by Dr. Scott Grundy.

The next "I Love Eating" class will be held from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 26, at the Missouri Botanical Garden, 4544 Shaw Blvd. Admission to the garden that morning and to the class is free, but registration is required. To register, call 454-HEART or toll-free 1-800-253-9619 from outside St. Louis.

At home, DeBlauw creates savory, lean burgers for her family. Here are her tips:

- Start with ground beef that is at least 90 percent fat-free.

- Blend in chopped green or yellow onion, a little pepper or fresh herbs and a few drops of liquid smoke.

- Form four-ounce patties about the size and thickness of a small person's palm, 4 inches square, by 1/2 inch thick or the size of a deck of cards.

- Grill over medium-hot coals for a total of eight to 10 minutes.

- Serve on a whole-grain bun with a little Dijon mustard or ketchup.

Here is a recipe for Vegetable-Beef Burgers, which allows you to make a shopping list if you need one, for this summer-special meal. It stretches one pound extra-lean ground beef to make six burgers.

Protect plants from pests, disease in August

Pests and disease continue to cause problems in the garden in August.

Continue spraying roses that are susceptible to black spot and other fungal diseases. While you've got the rose fungicide out, take a look at your lilacs. Powdery mildew on lilacs is unsightly but causes no harm and rarely warrants control. You can, however, use common rose fungicides, which usually protect lilacs, too.

Continue to spray opening grapes to prevent brown rot fungus. Spray black locust trees now.

To protect against damage by the locust borer, it's too late for insecticides if the bagworms on your evergreens have reached full size. Prune off and destroy the large bags instead for better control.

Your lawn also needs protection against pests. Now is the time to apply insecticides for grub control if you see any grub damage. Zoysia lawns can receive applications of fall fertilizer anytime during August. You can keep planting this week for your fall vegetable garden. Set out your broccoli, cabbage and cauliflower transplants now, if you haven't already. You also can sow seeds of beans, beets, spinach and turnips this week for the fall garden. Spinach may germinate better if seeds are refrigerated for one week before planting.

In the flower garden, this would be a good week to feed mums, asters and other fall blooming perennials for the last time. Also, it's time to trim straggly shrubs on your hedges to shape them up for fall and winter.

The Missouri Botanical Garden's Kemper Center for Home Gardening is open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Each month there is a new and beautiful gardening display to give you ideas and inspiration. Visit the Plant Doctor to see new tools and techniques for growing plants at home and learn about the latest in extensive gardening library. Meet with the Master Gardeners to chat about your gardening questions.

Hewlett chosen for area leadership program

Leadership St. Louis has chosen Thomas R. Hewlett and Dianne Barron to be in its 55-member class for the 1992-93 program year.

Hewlett, a Granite Cityan, is chief of the real estate management and disposal branch of the St. Louis District Corps of Engineers. His responsibilities include real property management activities associated with federal water resource development projects in western Illinois and eastern Missouri.

Hewlett came to the Corps after completing graduate work at the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources at Michigan State University. He is also a graduate of Indiana State University.

His community service represents a wide range of local and regional interests, including a gubernatorial appointment to the board of the Southwestern Illinois Development Authority, where he serves as planning committee chairman and assistant vice chairman.

Hewlett is chairman of the Granite City Planning and Zoning Commission, chairman of the troop and district committee for the Troops West Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and chairman for various parish fund-raising events. He is a former Granite City alderman.

Hewlett and his wife, Patricia, have two children in high school.

Anne, a senior, and Mark, a freshman.

Dianne Barron is the owner of ADIA Personnel Services, a provider of temporary and full-time staffing placement services to companies in southwestern Illinois.

She is responsible for the long-term direction, growth and expansion of the franchise. Her emphasis is continued training and development for all staff members, and a strong partnership with area educators to better prepare youth for their future employment/career search.

A native of Fairmont City, she is a product of the public school system and has been in the personnel profession since 1976. Currently, she is president of the Fairview Heights Chamber of Commerce and is an officer in the League of Women Voters, Rotary and SCORE/ACE.

She is an officer of the ADIA Franchise Association, of which she was the founding president. Barron is scheduled to assume the presidency of the Collinsville League of Women Voters and the Fairview Heights Rotary in 1993 and 1994, respectively.

She and her husband, Mike Waitkakis, and son, Benjamin, live in Collinsville.

Participants in the Leadership St. Louis program represent a cross-section of the key leadership of the metropolitan area from the private, public, non-profit and volunteer sectors.

The purpose of the program is to enhance the participants' awareness and understanding of the greater St. Louis region, and to expand their civic leadership effectiveness.

Class members meet two days each month for nine months at various sites in the bi-state area.

Key issues explored include economic development, education, poverty and social services, the arts and cultural institutions, health care delivery, the criminal justice system, unemployment, transportation and regionalism.

The program, which has been funded by the Danforth Foundation since its inception in 1976, has presented to classes, resulting in 600 graduates.

The Leadership St. Louis program is one of six programs sponsored by Leadership St. Louis Inc., an organization committed to developing community leadership for the purpose of improving the quality of life in the greater St. Louis region.

Leadership St. Louis Inc. programs seek to enhance the community awareness and leadership skills of persons chosen for their potential to make a difference in the St. Louis area. Leadership St. Louis Inc. also serves as a center for information about the community and leadership resources.

Eagles Auxiliary initiates member

Eagles Auxiliary 1126 initiated one new member at the Eagles Home at its regular meeting.

The candidate was Esther McCosky.

President Joanna Spencer opened the meeting, and Conductor Angie Bucher placed the Bible, emblem of the home and the flag at the altar, with members reciting the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

One applicant was investigated, balloting was held for one applicant, and one application for membership was read.

It was announced that Granite City auxiliary will host the next District 27 meeting on Sunday, Aug. 30, at 2 p.m. District auxiliaries consist of Granite City, Shiloh, Aton, Collinsville, Wood River and Jerseyville.

Junior Past President Del Delaney was escorted to the altar, where she was presented with certificates denoting a double quota membership, high donations to the state on various charities, the visual aids project, assembled by Dorothy Langford, Vera Johnson and Ellen Walker, which won first place at the state convention; and the publicity book, prepared by Helen Lipchik, which was awarded first place in state with a grade of 100 percent.

New Eagles Auxiliary member Esther McCosky, front, with Joanna Spencer, Auxiliary president.

'Music of Andrew Webber' at Muny

August 10-16

By Jean Abernathy
Correspondent

Perhaps no contemporary musical composer is more heralded than Andrew Lloyd Webber.

A selection of Lloyd Webber's most popular songs from a 21-year career will come to the Muny stage Aug. 10 through 16 to end the season with the spectacular "The Music of Andrew Lloyd Webber."

Lloyd Webber's musical successes include "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Evita," "Cats," and "The Phantom of the Opera."

He has gained notoriety as the only composer to have three shows playing simultaneously in New York and London. He also is one of the elite composers who has had hit songs both in stage shows and in pop music. Some of Lloyd Webber's most familiar tunes include "I Don't Know How to Love Him," "Memory," "Don't Cry For Me Argentina," and "All I Ask of You."

The musical selections in "The Music of Andrew Lloyd Webber" will feature full orchestration and stage settings.

Patrick Vaccariello, a veteran of several Lloyd Webber shows, will conduct for the production. He most recently conducted the national tour of "Starlight Express," and has played for "Cats" on Broadway.

An ensemble of gifted singers, many of whom also are veterans of Lloyd Webber shows, will perform the memorable songs. The group includes Rita Baretta, Jennifer Blackhurst, Michelle Dawson, Tom Donoghue, D. Michael Heath, Dale Hensley, Catherine Hyde, Walker Keeling, Frank Porretta III, Ray Shell, C.E. Smith, Julie Waldman-Spiel, Elizabeth Ward and Wyszynska Woolsey.

Wednesday, Aug. 12, will be Suburban Journals Night at the Muny performance of "The Music of Andrew Lloyd Webber." The first 200 people through the ticket gates that evening will receive a special gift from the Journals.

Wayans brothers in 'Mo' Money'By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

Film and television comedian Damon Wayans makes movies a family affair by including his younger brother Marlon Wayans in "Mo' Money."

And the film is most notable because of Marlon Wayans' inclusion — he has the screen presence of an actor with a dozen movies to his credit, and he's very funny.

In "Mo' Money," Damon Wayans plays Johnny, a street hustler in Chicago who is ably assisted in the family business of petty theft by his younger brother Seymour, played by Marlon Wayans.

After Johnny meets an attractive young lady named Amber, played by Stacey Dash, he gets ambitious. He applies for and gets a job as a mail room clerk in the Dynasty Club credit card company. It's a perfect position for Johnny because Amber works for the same company in an office only a few feet from his desk.

The Dynasty Club's chief of security is a sinister young man named Keith Heading, played by John Diehl. Johnny gets entrapped in Heading's multimillion-dollar plan to steal money from Dynasty. The plot calls for intercepting credit cards issued to dead people and then using the credit lines to purchase expensive goods which are warehoused and sold.

Johnny uses the time he's caught in the scheme to shower Amber with gifts and good times. Soon, however, Amber gets suspicious and Johnny must extricate himself from a web of violence and theft to save their relationship.

"Mo' Money" is part action-chase movie and part all-out comedy. Damon Wayans' script is written to try and cover both ends of those two popular film genres, and it does a credible job.

The supporting cast is good in "Mo' Money." There are a lot of good production values and plenty of strong laughs.

By Ian MacBryde

Correspondent

I don't know about you folks, but I have stopped tuning in television or radio stations which report Olympic results without giving me the fair warning so I can change stations if I choose.

I know they don't want me to change stations, but I don't want my evening viewing ruined. Sorry about that. It's once every four years, guys, and you need to cater to your audience.

Radio Ratings
I have a friend who is very pleased with the most recent ratings in the St. Louis radio market. Rick, you see, has come to enjoy country music.

He got there from rather unlikely beginnings. An upscale suburbanite with his musical roots in Motown and the Grateful Dead, his travels recently have taken him to places where they appreciate Garth Brooks, Suzie Boggus and the Texas Two-Step. He's a convert.

And if the Arbitron ratings for spring 1992, (April 2 through June 23) are to be believed, there are a lot of converts in St. Louis. WIL-FM (92), wall-to-wall country music, showed the biggest increase in listening audience during the rating period, moving from a fourth-place rating overall to second in the market. (That's among all listeners, the time 1 KMOX-AM (1120) was solidly in first place, with almost twice the audience of WIL, but KMOX is one of the most dominant stations in the country, and its combination of talk and sports as always on top in the market.)

WIL program director Ray Massie describes the recent ratings as "the best book in the station's history." The station also made a big move among the listeners ages 25 to 34, most advertisers' favorite demographic. WIL went from sixth in the market by that measurement to third place with a 45 percent increase in listeners.

It really goes to country music being hot," Massie said.

"Country music drives the radio station," he said. "Country music albums have been the biggest sellers in St. Louis for 24 of the past 26 weeks, citing Soundscan, a company which keeps track of that sort of thing."

Incidentally, WKXX-FM (104) the other major area station with a country format, held its own, maintaining a tie for 10th in the market, indicating that the folks who are finding WIL are coming from other formats.

KSHE-FM (95), a hard rocker slipped from second to third overall; even though the total number of people listening to the station actually increased, according to Arbitron, and KSHE held onto second place with a 14 percent increase in the 25 to 34 age group.

WIL also showed a giant increase in "morning drive," defined as 6 to 10 a.m. Monday through Friday, up 41 percent and holding onto second place. KMOX, by the way, remained first in the mornings with an audience more than twice as large as that owned by WIL. Oldies station KLOU-FM (103) took a heavy hit from the ratings, sliding one spot overall from 8th to 9th, but losing 35 percent of its audience. Nevertheless, the station, with an audience heavily concentrated in the 35 to 44 age bracket, continued to show up well among those listeners.

Among other stations which seem to have been hurt, WKBB-FM (106), which lost 27 percent of its total audience, and KEZK-FM (102), which lost 22 percent of its audience aged 25 to 34.

KILJY-FM's (96) first full rating book as "Jukebox 96" (it used to be "soft rock"), saw the station take a 39 percent loss in overall audience and a 37 percent decrease in its audience aged 25 to 34.

KSD-FM (93) had its third straight loss in audience in "morning drive" — where J.C. Corcoran used to hold forth.

The numbers (total audience, 6 a.m. to midnight Monday through Sunday): 1. KMOX, 19.8 rating; 2. WIL, 9.0; 3. KSHE, 8.4; 4. KMMJ-FM (108), 7.3; 5. KYKY-FM (98), 5.6; 6. KSD, 5.4; 7. KEZK, 4.2; 8. WKBB, 3.6; 9. KLOU, 2.8; 10. WKXX, 2.8. Incidentally, KASD-AM (1380), which recently adopted an all-sports format, is still well down in the listings but is improving. The station finished 24th (of 28 stations ranked) among all listeners, but 16th among listeners ages 25 to 34.
